extrapolation for an automated review or may rely on extrapolation to determine or support the amount of an overpayment determination.

(3) The department or an auditor may use data analysis techniques to identify claims that are most likely to contain overpayments for purposes of selecting providers or claims for overpayment audits.

(4) For the purposes of this section, the following definitions apply:

(a) "Automated review" means a claim review made at the system level without a human being reviewing the medical record.

(b) "Extrapolation" means the determination of an unknown value by projecting the results of a review of a sample to the universe from which the sample was drawn.

(c) "High-risk provider" means a provider who within the previous 3 years:

(i) has either admitted to medicaid fraud or abuse in a written agreement with a governmental agency or has been determined by a final order of judgment of a governmental agency or court to have committed medicaid fraud or abuse; or

(ii) has a documented history of a high medicaid claim error rate that has been sustained over a substantial period of time and that documented educational interventions have failed to correct.

(5) The department shall specify by rule the percentage medicaid error rate, the period of time over which the error rate must be sustained, and the nature and frequency of unsuccessful educational interventions provided that will result in the designation of a provider as a high-risk provider within the meaning of subsection (4)."
